

Use and Care Instructions

When moving photo markers from one chart to another, press and rub the entire surface of the marker. The markers should make firm contact with the surface of the chart to develop strong static cling.

Photo markers lose static cling as dirt and residue from general use stick to their surfaces. To restore the original cling, simply wash the markers in a bowl of warm soapy water. Rinse and spread out to dry on a cloth.

Occasionally the charts should also be wiped with a cloth moistened with warm, soapy water. Dry off any moisture with a soft cloth before use.
